Information Security Engineer

http://www.goldenline.pl/praca/oferta/324773

Information Security Engineer

Responsibilities: Monitoring of the information security field and the ever-changing threat landscape Defining, implementing and monitoring execution of company security policies, procedures and guidelines Full stack penetration testing of Linux-deployed Java and Ruby applications and services Implementing improvements in technical security infrastructure related to detection/prevention of intrusion, data loss, remote access, authentication, access control, audit logs, disaster recovery preparedness, business continuity assurance, vulnerability management, etc. Ensure security policy is implemented appropriately in all aspects of IT systems/infrastructure as well as non-automated methods and procedures. Evaluate, enhance, implement, and manage company's cyber and physical security posture Requirements: 3+ years of experience in Information Security 3+ years of experience in systems and network administration Able to provide security engineering analysis on a variety of information systems Experience securing Linux operating systems and networks Experience in penetration testing of complex applications and sevices in various languages and frameworks Prior experience in banking sector is a big plus We offer: Excellent remuneration Permanent position in established technology start-up with great funding

Date utworzenia: 08-01-2015